

#10 ORION TRANSMISSIONS 2011

January 2012

Dear friends,

The transmissions included are all ones from December. There were so many, I divided them into two, so these are the first ones I will send.

Orion encourages us to cultivate an air of detachment as well as “to divine the Divine within you,” while suggesting we rid ourselves of expectation, desire and judgment. These are certainly high goals but, “There are no boundaries in Light Work. It is limitless.” So individually and collectively, we need to try to be the best that we can be in this ‘rug-out-from-under us’ period in history.

To speak of such elevated concepts and at the same time of Chemtrails’ deleterious effects on our environment may seem rather paradoxical. Yet that is the yoke that binds us to reality as we now experience it.

It feels like a time of the highest of highs and lowest of lows. That we have access to such high knowledge remains truly an honour and blessing.

We had a sweet holiday season here at Bhruqu Aranya, with all celebrations, prayers, healing fires and song. There were visits and gatherings, sharing and resting. Winter is a heavenly time for me, the inner fire being stoked and nurtured. As I mentioned in my last letter, there are plans underway to gather 108 people performing Agnihotra fires here in Poland. Here Spring Equinox can be a very cold, snowy period. So we may actually do it in May or for Summer Solstice. We will see, as time unfolds, when it will be held. Many have expressed interest around whole of Poland in participating in it. Of course, others from Europe will likely join us.

*Keep the faith, support each other, and come together. We are ONE family!
Blessings for a wise New Year.*

#10 ORION TRANSMISSIONS 2011

December 10, 2011 Sunset at Kraś kow Crystal Mine in Sobótka, Poland

(Jarek, Asia and I drove to western Poland and met with a group that had invited us to teach Agnihotra. At the end of the high-spirited meeting, we all drove to a local quartz crystal mine, owned by one of the participants. This pure water has healing qualities, as it runs underground through the quartz crystal itself. Our friend Mirek and Ryszard, the owner of the mine, both wanted to have a circle of Agnihotra fires to energize the water even more. Mirek had already been performing Agnihotra daily at the well for a couple months.

The whole experience felt more like an activation to me. There were twelve Agnihotra pyramids blazing in the small stone octagon hut which contained the well. Some of the people who could not fit into the small building gathered close to the door. We were all so energized that no one wanted to leave, despite the cold outside. One woman ran up to me, as we walked out, and exclaimed that she had visions of angels during the Agnihotra ceremony.)

Yes, yes. Where there is pure intent to heal, healing will take place. When ones of like mind gather together with intent to heal, a transformative setting is created, into which individual intent may be put. When there are more beings with the same intention, manifestation is multiplied.

Thus, on this planet, the greater number of beings lighting these Fires of Transformation, the greater the healing and greater manifestation of peace, harmony and universal brotherhood/sisterhood.

Our focus will be on Poland now, as this small country laden with burdens of intense historical significance—this is the country which will lead Europe!

This is sacred water.

A very special site in this region.

Be at peace.

OM.

December 11, 2011 On our way up Mountain, Sobótka Poland

Yes, yes. Walk up Ślę ż a as far as comfortable. There, do one fire and sit.

This Ślę ż a was once a sacred mountain whereupon ceremonies were performed using the elements of Fire and Water. Activation can be quiet. Whosoever attends is welcome, but you are to release energies bound in the Earth on this day.

(On the walk up Ślę ż a Mountain, there were numerous clusters of large standing stones, seemingly random. As I looked closer, I could see distinct circles of stones, some with one or two stones missing, but set in a clear circular shape. At one point along the wide path going up the mountain, I felt drawn to one particular stone circle. I walked off the path, feeling mesmerized, and Asia followed behind me. The rest of our party had walked ahead. There, I sat on a large stone. I felt a wave of peace descend on me and tears came to my eyes. I sensed strongly this had once been a sacred stone circle. It was like the power was still present. I listened intently.)

Yes. All throughout and surrounding landscape, there are unidentified sacred stone circles. You have been drawn to one specifically formed for communicating with, in a sense honouring, the Moon. The great Moon.

Ceremonies were performed not only at the top of Śleḻ a, but all around. Stone circles stand as testament to powerful energies from the Moon and from the Sun.

Water plays a crucial part in the healing of the planet. Water resources are at least threatened, at worst, contaminated. At such sacred places as this, activation of ancient sources of pure water is necessary.

The crystal mine where you have been definitely is a valuable resource. Should anyone offer to purchase it, do not even consider selling. In future, it will be a necessary resource for pure crystal water. Continue fires at such place. (This message was later delivered to the owner of the mine, who began practice of Agnihotra.)

(Asia and I continued hiking up Śleḻ a. At a resting point along the way up, we noticed a very large rock not far from the path, surrounded by other stones. We decided that it was the place where we should do Fire. The rest of the group joined us and we all sat in a circle around a Vyahruti Homa. Orion spoke:)

Here is where the stones breathe. Energies locked in the Earth are being activated. The energy is rising. It is a 'wake-up' call, long awaited. Many are drawn to this sacred mountain, yet it is the standing stones which hold the energy and the history of ancient times and the secrets to rejuvenation of this planet Earth. Listen.

There are many Light lines intersecting here and intersecting with numerous Light lines throughout this continent and from country to country around the globe.

At sacred places, many energy lines have either been broken or have gone underground. Here, the lines are intact, in part perhaps because awareness of the ancient stone circles which cover the entire landscape is not so high. Here the stone circles emanate power. Presently, much of that energy has receded due to the times. However, now they will rise.

And yes, all over Śleḻ a and its sister mountain, ceremonial fires were performed in ancient times. The energies from these ancient ceremonies are locked into the stones, the soil and in the oldest of trees. Nothing is lost. Here, the healing energies are quite intact. Indeed, they are.

Thank you for giving us your undivided attention! OM.

December 12, 2011 On activation

Yes, yes. Regarding the activation of the sacred Śleḻ a, the whole time you were all present in the area, activation was going on. The fire on the way up to Śleḻ a peak was the cap on top of an already profound healing for the region. The crystal mine has greater importance than would appear. Best if fires can continue at that site, as far as possible. The water is pure and will be of greater value now that the ash has been put into the well and fires kept there. Water resources are precious and in future, will be absolutely essential.

December 13, 2011 On stepping up focus with Fire

Yes, most assuredly, schedules and plans will assist those here and in other communities with staying on track and keeping to targeted goals. The fact that the environment is under attack is undeniable, the effects of which are disconcerting to say the least. With the Chemtrail spraying as frequent as it is, the typical symptoms or reactions to it are lack of focus, foggy thinking and a glazed-over consciousness.

That is why, at this time, it is of even greater importance to adhere to the regular practice of the healing fires which are very much a part of your work here. If you sit for the fires at the specific times recommended to you and add additional hours of Yajnya to your days, the effects will be nullified. They will not simply be lessened, but actually nullified. This is a profound statement. It does take effort on the part of those practitioners who only sit for sunrise-sunset Agnihotra. Should they add the additional boosts to their energy which the Vyahruti Homas and other fires give, certainly the effects noticed will be more pronounced. Step up the focus by stepping up the fires.

Do not be concerned with being believed. Let those who wish to, experience the results themselves. Let them see from their own experience what changes occur if they practice this daily. Even simple Agnihotra at sunrise and sunset will yield great relief. For those who are already practicing regular Agnihotra at sunrise and sunset, the additional fires will only cement the already profound effects of this miraculous practice. OM.

December 14, 2011 On Food and Water Storage

Yes, yes. Indeed, these are now the times to begin food storage, as well as greater stores of water. These are the simple needs, though one could also consider other necessities at this point in time. Not to be worried or overly concerned, but be prepared for such things as power losses and food shortages. Meanwhile, though these problems may initially be short-term, better to be prepared for minimum 6 months food and water supplies. Take steps weekly to develop and maintain storage.

There have been safeguards put into place in Europe to guard against losses of power, and these safeguards are being improved daily. Some of the catastrophes which have been eluded to in previous transmissions have been averted. Thus, the situation may appear less perilous. It is best not to become complacent, but instead to insist upon becoming well-informed and well-prepared for any eventuality.

On Fear and Faith

No fear. Fear, as we have said from the very beginning of our transmissions* is the enemy of humankind. No enemy is more efficient at destroying the very fabric of humanity than fear. No adversary is quite as effective as fear. When you give into fear, you expose your vulnerability and leave yourself open to any force poised to weaken your fibre. Fear is debilitating to the soul.

(Original quote from December 1997:*

“Fear is your biggest enemy. Do not allow it to breed. From it stem hatred, deceit, greed, all violence. Fear strengthens the forces of evil...LOVE is the only way to respond.”

The opposite of fear is FAITH, as we have said on many occasions. Faith is built upon truth, nurtured by understanding and blessed with compassion. When you give in to faith, you allow for your heart to open to love. Love has no room for fear. In love, your heart, your being is always safe.

December 20, 2011 On Maintaining Our Perspective

Yes, yes. Continual rains in some parts of the world will cause grave conditions, ripe for disease as well as crop loss. There will be torrential rains in some regions, while drought will continue to be a problem in Midwest U.S. once again this coming year.

Expect a volcanic eruption which will surprise even those on volcano alert. More danger connected to volcanoes this year.

Awareness of the precarious state of the environment, the prevalence of world crises and the insidious attempts of powers to subdue and control the world's population—all in the name of unification—is good only up to the point where it does not interfere with your own self-awareness and positive attitude. It is absolutely necessary to stay your focus on the Light Work for which you were born, dear ones. If you get lost in the headlines, you will miss your own lines! You have a purpose in this life, dear workers in the Light. Do not forget it.

There are those of you who will enter public service, even in political realm. This may be your way of Light Work. Still, others may need to work on subtle realms which are equally, if not greater, in effectiveness. Do not be disdainful of those who perhaps are not as vocal as you in the public arena. There are no boundaries on Light Work. It is limitless. Support each other.

December 22, 2011 On Learning Detachment and Listening to the Divine Within

Yes, yes. Indeed, where there is a gathering of like-minded souls with determination to affect change in this world, there is great strength, courage and inspiration. Those of you whose focus is more worldly in terms of affecting change, remember to continually nurture the spirit. Guard against becoming a cog in the wheel. Either way the wheel turns, whether forward to change or backward to blockages, one can become enmeshed in it. Do all in a spirit of detachment.

This is an interesting concept, as to affect change in others in order to shift the whole planet's awareness one must be inspired and passionate about one's work. However, if that passion should engulf you and become your entire reason for living, it can stop you from your own personal, spiritual evolution. What is required here is a deep passion for truth ultimately and simultaneously, the detachment which allows for "Thy Will, not my will be done."

Great Masters have come and gone and many have been intensely dedicated, tirelessly working toward fulfilling their given missions on this planet. One thing all great Masters have in common is uncommon, and that is the air of detachment. They will work till the last breath, but always in a spirit of humility and Divinely surrendered to a Higher Will. Let these great Masters be the lesson givers from which you hone your skills, your passion for truth and your ability to let go of the fruits of your actions.

What is success? Is it establishing and fulfilling one's own personal goals or is it deepening one's conscious contact with Divine and allowing His Will to permeate and illumine your life? One thing is, it is always best to attune your goals to those which are Divinely given. This requires an in-depth inventory not only of your abilities, leanings, and longings. It also calls forth the dreams of your soul, which are often reflections of Divine order. Listening to the quiet voice within you is one way to get in touch with your true purpose in Life, unless of course, you are blessed with contact to a great Master. Even then, the greatest of Masters will always send you back to yourself to divine what is Divine within you.

Develop listening skills.

Develop an attitude of gratitude and of humility.

When you become forceful in order to get your way, you can easily miss the minute details and signs along the way which bring you back to centre—if you are listening! It is subtle awareness which cannot be taught. However, if you but ask, Divine will most certainly reveal the direction.

Often the voice of Divine can talk in riddles and parables. If one empties one's erratic mind of expectation, desire and judgment, and then asks, the doors will fly open and clarity will be evident in every move. It is only when one enters into contact with Divine, armed with one's own perceptions and expectations, that one simply cannot hear the voice of Truth speak, amidst the plans and protestations of the restless mind. If you want to go within to ask for direction or, even if you want to ask for guidance in any other way, it is always best at the very least, to utter the words, "Let all be Thy will not mine." If you say this with conviction, the answers will arrive in a more clear package than if you do not. OM.

December 23, 2011 On Awakening

Yes, yes. A substantial number of individuals are now awakening on every continent, in villages, cities, towns. There will be a massive rise in consciousness now, beginning from the end of this year. Awareness may arise from any base, be it political realizations to spiritual epiphanies. The catalyst is simply an opportune event or stimulus, in essence, 'being in the right place at the right time!'

Now, there are many environmental perils and powers in the world which are unstable. Be aware of it and then return your focus to the work for which you have come. Every one of you who is awakening is doing so as individual Light Workers as well as a collective. It would certainly behoove those of you new to this higher consciousness, to seek the company of others so inclined.

Initially, it is easy to waver between awareness levels, as if between worlds. It can be a confusing time for those whose boundaries and attitudes, opinions and allegiances have already been formed. It is as if the rug is being pulled out from under your feet! And it is, dear friends. It is. This is most definitely the rug-out-from-under period in history.

To those who are new to the field of self-discovery and new to higher awareness of the world around you, be aware that as with all things new, there is a breaking-in period. Do not expect too much of yourselves. In fact, when new awareness dawns, many times beings such as yourselves may experience deeper levels of fear as it transitions into Faith, and of bodily weakness, as awareness of higher levels can affect your bodies, subtle and material.

If you are fortunate to have the loving support of a teacher or someone who is more in line with this new thinking, feeling and willing, consider this a time of training the mind to find new solace and understanding within. Always aim high and shift from lowly places which used to be comfortable to your old self. This process may take time. Be as patient with yourself as possible.

Embarking on a new trail is also exhilarating. There is a natural high which comes with making necessary shifts in consciousness. With as little resistance as possible, simply enjoy the ride.

Blessings abound. Be open to them.

The forces of Light are being strengthened, as if with armour made of steel. All of you will feel it, as the year progresses. Where you were once weak and indecisive, you will find your focus more pinpointed and decisions intuitively handled. This is the year when those whose work is for the Light, assisting the new ones in their awakening process, will be given the power to do so. There are many miracles in the making. You will experience more of them daily. OM.
