March 15, 2011

Dear friends

This is an intense period, as the world is reeling from the latest catastrophe, Japan's unbelievable earthquake and tsunami. Our hearts go out to the people there.

I have received quite a few emails about the environmental crisis in Japan and peoples' reactions to it. Since that date, I have experienced weakness and tiredness which was not there before. It feels like a part of me is deeply affected by the energy in the atmosphere. Orion addressed this in a way which helped me understand more what I was feeling. I've since increased my meditations and am reminded to not get caught up in a frenzy of activity and instead, take time to go within, and to LISTEN.

The nuclear leak is potentially devastating and I feel sure that what is reported in the news is not even close to the whole truth. I hope and pray it can serve as a global wake-up call to begin to shift our energy to alternative sources.

As we face an uncertain future, I remember Shree Vasant Paranjpe traveled around the globe for many years, warning of environmental catastrophes to come. He gave detailed instructions on how to use the solutions, which were all based in Vedic Science, with Agnihotra as the basic healing agent. This now includes Homa Organic Farming, Agnihotra Ash medicines, and Homa healing herbs. In the old days, some people would say He was too focused on the perils facing our environment, but now one by one, I see His predictions, which were actual prophecy, coming true. As Shree Vasant always used to say, "To be forewarned is to be forearmed."

Gather together and send Light and Love to all of our sisters and brothers around the world. We are truly ONE WORLD.

All love, Parvati

#3 ORION TRANSMISSIONS 2011

March 1, 2011 On sacred site activations in Poland

What is to be revealed during the course of activations in Northeast Poland in particular, will be surprising and again, a deeply transforming experience. The beings who attend these very deep activations must be all willing to work together in absolute harmony, as this is one element which releases the power locked in the soil, in trees, in stones and even in water. If the harmonious element between beings is not present or is disrupted, immediately you must stop the process, regroup and begin again. We do not foresee this, but every member of the group chosen to do these activations should be aware of what is required of them. Children are always welcome, as their energy is always closer to the earth. Laughter and lightheartedness are not disruptive elements. Chatter and disagreement are. Choose beings carefully. This is not a public performance nor should it be attended by those who would treat it as such. This is a timely and profound journey which will occur exactly at the right time, not a minute early! Wait for further instructions, dates and details.

The site whereupon stone circles sit is in need of activation, as this is a turning point in the entire region. It is where the energies are constantly shifting, never remaining the same. Those who would go there with negative intent would certainly meet with great difficulty either before entraining for the site, during the period present or directly following the period being there. And there have been some troubling souls there over the years. Keep the mind pure, as every intention is clearly felt and indelibly marked on the site itself. En route to this sacred site of power are several other sites where it would be good to stop for activations. Once all the information is gathered, the planning can begin.

Do not fear or have even momentary hesitation, as this is precisely the right time for these activations to begin, and you are the vehicle through which great power shall generate, for the healing, deep healing of this country. What happens here shall influence the rest of Europe. Energies loosened by the activations will ripple through the entire continent.

March 3, 2011 More on activations

Yes, yes, yes. Indeed, the activations to come are of vital importance and the timing of such pivotal events is also quite important. Due primarily to weather constraints, the early part of April may be impossible to entrain for the Northeast. However, if that is not possible but weather warrants activations in this area, quite nearby we might add, then by all means begin in early April. Do not wait.

We would say that for the Bialowieza region the earliest dates would be perhaps mid to end April, but even that is optimistic. Therefore, bank on end April-beginning May for Northeast Poland. And by all means, the being Asia should attend. She has special connection to the past in the specific site of the largest known stone circle in Poland's mountain region. She will feel quite inspired following this activation, as it will resonate with her being.

The convoy shall indeed consist of as many beings as wish to attend, but specific instructions will be given, should a question arise as to the appropriateness of any individual. Certainly absolutely necessary would be the beings Jacob, Jarek, Parvati and now Asia. Should others attend, wonderful, but these will be the main ones to bring in the energies from below. Jacob has also deep connection to the region whereupon stone circles were erected.

Some stones (Note: refers to large stone circles found deep in the primeval forest region of Poland called Bialowieza) were not brought there by human beings per se, but came of their own accord, if you will. There are mysteries surrounding several sites where ancient sacred stones of rather large caliber have appeared. These mysteries will be revealed during the expedition.

At the time of these activations, you will have a better idea which are the most important to do first. There will be several which will cover a widespread area, so it will not be necessary to go from site to site, rather according to when the power needs to be released.

One of the sites is associated with a Polish King. There may be some hesitation to go there, but rest assured, it is one of the sites which needs to be activated.

If you will recall, when in Memphis, Tennessee (Note: Memphis was one city where a group of us performed Civil War cleansings several years ago), one cleansing was done on the street itself! Not every activation will require a ceremony as such. Sometimes, just the simple performance of Agnihotra will suffice, and if it is not possible to sit directly in the site itself, you can be nearby.

March 7, 2011 On speaking and living TRUTH

Yes, yes. Constant revision of one's words and actions is an excellent tool for self-study. That is to say, becoming more aware of every word uttered and every action taken will bring one to clarity in thought, word and deed. This aids in one becoming 'true to oneself.' That is vital at this stage in the world's evolution, not to mention one's personal evolution.

The tendency of the mind is to point out the weaknesses in others, to find fault or criticize that which one does not accept as truth or that which one finds uncomfortable. However, this is outward thinking which can only delude one into feeling 'better than' or 'above the other human being.'

The same can be said for thinking what others think of you! What others think is irrelevant when one is walking one's truth. It is only of interest to the mind which perceives one's own words and actions as lesser than another human being's. This is the other side of the same coin. The coin is the ego.

Thinking oneself 'better than' or 'lesser than' is basically the same. Why think at all? Speak the truth. Act on the truth. Then, what others think or speak about you will not matter in the slightest. If your aim is true, no other direction will lure the mind. When one is immersed in TRUTH, there is nothing of greater importance than that. When one is immersed in TRUTH, one's consciousness is Love and one's awareness is of each human being as one's equal. It is as it should be. It is as it IS. OM.

March 11, 2011 More on activations

You must turn your attention toward these timely activations, as they are in dire need of attention. There are several sites in the Malpolska region which could be attended to prior to the major trip to the northeastern sites, which are most powerful and ready to be activated. Waiting till May is fine for the Northeast, so it would behoove this team to begin to plan the sites in the nearby region. Activations may even begin this month's end, if possible.

Once the primeval forest sites are completed, where the stone circles are located, plus the Odry region which is very important for this work, the activations will then be planned for other countries. Primarily we are concerned with the Eastern European countries, as the most magical and hidden, most powerful sites are in Eastern Europe. Much has already been devastated in other countries, due to 'progress' and what we would call 'regress!' Therefore, the focus on Eastern Europe is prominent.

On balance in a sea of change

In regards to the most recent query regarding how to maintain balance or equilibrium in the sea of change and the demands of the world, let us begin. This is an excellent and practical question, one of timely importance for many, certainly. The answer is quite simple, but multi-fold. Let us begin:

To establish balance in one's life, one must begin with one's inner peace. Unless one establishes oneself in the arms of Almighty, one's efforts at becoming balanced will not bear fruit. Spirituality is not about how many Pranayams you perform or how many Mantras you chant. It is not about one's prowess in performing difficult yoga asanas or in quoting passages from scripture. It has everything to do with the way one lives one's life. It has to do with one's level of honesty with oneself and others, one's kindness, one's ability to listen and one's willingness to understand others. It is how one walks one's talk. Once one has established oneself with a sense of surrender to a Higher Light, one's progress is assured.

One can begin one's day simply, adhering to simple spiritual practice, with the aim of becoming a better being, more loving, more patient, more kind. Whether that is enhanced by practice of yoga, meditation, the energy of Agnihotra or other practices, one's aim should be true. Take out the ego and do all your actions in a spirit of humility, to serve others in a spirit of absolute humility. Then, as the great Master said, "...your driving your auto to work, your taking the baby to the babysitter, your cooking food for the family, your work in the office or factory become the Divine Path. Service divided by ego is equal to devotion.” (quote from ‘Light Towards Divine Path’ by Shree Vasant Paranjpe)

Once that point is understood, that it is not how many classes and workshops you attend, but how you utilize the information and knowledge you receive in your daily life, true progress can be made and an innate balance will occur.

To help with the balance, one can establish a structure or skeletal plan for every day. Keep it simple. If, for example, your day begins with Hatha Yoga followed by morning Agnihotra, keep that as your morning structure. Then, what do you need to maintain that energy throughout each day? Do not complicate your life. If you have material world responsibilities, use those opportunities as chances to serve others, even in a material environment. If you carry with you the energy of LOVE, your presence will benefit all you meet, in any circumstance, in any situation.

Those of you with busy lives can also establish a skeletal structure or foundation upon which to build the rest of your life. Make some points firm and do not break them. Make others perhaps more flexible. If you establish a base, you can grow with much greater ease and fluidity. Be flexible with the points in your life which allow for flexibility. If, for example, your structure includes morning and evening Agnihotra, this is not flexible. This is fixed, based on timings which are already established by Nature—sunrise and sunset. The rest can be flexible.

When you feel most out of balance is when you need to go within. This does not require a two week spa stay or a weekend retreat! It can, if this motivates you and you have the time and financial capabilities. However, you can go within ANYTIME! Divine is waiting for you to return to centre!

Practice conscious listening. Listen to your inner voice, pay attention to your feelings and learn how to trust what you sense is Truth. When you take time to listen, Divine answers your every thought as if it were a prayer. The sincere heart is always heard by Divine.

You can make a quiet time for yourself in the wee hours of the morning or in quiet period of time during the day. Why wait and schedule lengthy retreats from the world, when what is truly required is daily attention to Divine? Listen. Listen. Listen.

You can select a specific time every day when you can take minimum 15 minutes of your time to focus on Divine. Whether you light a candle and sit quietly or simply close the door and go within, it is all the same. Just take the time DAILY to go within. That fifteen minutes per day becomes the rock upon which you lean for comfort. It becomes a sacred time just for you and it will feed you all day long. A moment with Divine is like a small morsel of food that becomes a feast. Divine knows precisely what you need. Give in. As they say in some circles, “Let go and let God.”

March 12, 2011 (The day after the Japan earthquake, we all felt a sense of imbalance. I was scheduled to go to a nearby town, but when I meditated I got the following, which made me realize how precious the rarified atmosphere is here.)

Yes, yes, yes. Today, best not to entrain for any other location. Best to remain in this rarified atmosphere and complete whatever work that is left to complete. Of course, walk and enjoy the great outdoors, as this is an unusual warm day.

On the environment, Japan and Truth

In regards to the current state of environment in the world, yes, there is great upheaval in Nature. This has long been predicted and prophesied. Many previously safe regions are at risk as well. The catastrophic earthquake and tsunami experienced in Japan are becoming all too typical of the environmental condition. This is not necessarily a conspiracy, as those with this predilection may claim. Many of Nature's disturbances come from man's unconscious disregard for the planet and the health of its inhabitants. No doubt, there is more afoot than meets the eye, indicating some human interference. However, in the case of Japan's condition, this is an act of Nature plain and simple.

One must guard against becoming too embroiled in conspiracy theories and realize that it is all part and parcel of a planet in absolute crisis. There have been some new developments which will enable human beings to rise above their circumstances in an unusual way. This is top secret and will only be revealed when those in the higher offices step down and permit truth to be revealed. That time will come. This is the Age of Truth. No matter what methods are employed to hide it, they will all fail. Truth cannot be contained, hidden, disguised or misused. It will rise. Yes, the Truth will rise.

On creativity and a balance between spiritual and material

(The following is an excerpt from a reading for someone, which I felt was a wonderful expression of the creative process and may be helpful to others.)

Yes, yes. The being _____ is in need of a calm, quiet and introspective time. His body is reflecting the strain and it is not 'rest' which he requires, but spiritual elevation and a return to the inner realms.

There is much which is waiting just to be created. That which is to be created already exists and only requires the impetus to be aroused from slumber and activated by interaction with Divine. Divine plays an important Hand in the true creative process, especially for someone so divinely blessed.

If one so divinely blessed with creative spirit immerses oneself in the material world, the body and mind will both reflect the strain. However, if one immerses oneself in spirit, one's entire life will reflect a harmony unmatched by others. It will reflect the Divine Hand behind it. Material world will also reflect the same influence without actually focusing on it!

On nearby ancient sacred site

(While walking up on the ridge above our farm, I had the feeling there was something underneath me. I 'saw' in my mind's eye, tunnels going through the earth from one direction to the next. I couldn't even walk. The others walked ahead while I listened to Orion's voice):

Yes, yes. There is another ancient sacred site not far from here, rather near actually. As legend tells, there are indeed tunnels underground which connect specific sites. These intersect and most certainly include the farm on which you live.

This sacred site was the site of ancient Pagan ceremonies and is nearby a monastery which is actually rather saintly, even today. It would behoove our vehicle to start studying the sacred sites in Malpolska, as well as in Northeast Poland.

There will be a huge awakening of souls in Poland, which has already begun. This is not necessarily on an esoteric level, but perhaps without that handicap of information which can sometimes cloud one's senses with New Age jargon and platitudes. No, this is a true awakening of souls who have arrived here specifically for this time period.

As we have said numerous times before, these are the darkest of times and the Lightest of times. Absolute evil and absolute purity and good. The forces of Light are dominating, by Grace. This will never be more apparent than at the present time.

Look into the tunnels which are said to travel throughout this region, this specific region where you live. There is so much more here than you can even fathom. All Light Beings are being called into action.

This is and will be a great Centre of Light for the whole of Europe. Build. Build. Build. OM.

March 13, 2011 On Earth changes

Yes, yes. This is the era of turbulence and chaos in weather fronts across the planet. Nothing is certain and predictability is becoming less reliable, in terms of forecasting even common weather trends. Soon, if you ask someone what months are summer and which are winter in his country, the answer will vary year to year. They will only be able to give ranges and not specific time periods. Predictability is a thing of the past.

Yes, yes. What our vehicle experienced yesterday on the ridge was real. You will be able to hear now from the Earth. It is not akin to listening to Earth spirits. You will actually be able to sense leylines, if you will bear with us calling them as such, and underground life. You will be able to know precisely where that which is hidden exists. Just listen. The pathways beneath the earth run north to south, east to west. It is not just one direction, but a complex series of tunnels underground. Look deeper into it.

On new star

In regards to new star, there have been some recent discoveries which are not being publicized. The new star is pertinent to this planet's existence. There is a greater connection than appears. Read about it and see what is possible to uncover, but not by normal means. That is to say, when news is covered up, there is always going to be a leak to follow. Always. Again, in this age of Truth, there will always be clear direction, even if it requires some effort to uncover.

MOLDAVITE will become necessary in future. This mercurial stone bears energy which will resonate with the changes in the structure of the Earth.

On Japan

Yes, yes. As there have been several inquiries as to the severity of Japan's earthquake and the global shock over the devastation it incurred, we are responding. The death toll has risen and will continue to rise—the suffering immense. We urge all of you to help in whatever ways you are able, the human beings whose families have been torn apart. Realize too the great dangers which lie ahead.

Of course, Nature, beloved Nature, is never without reason. It appears that the greatest destruction may be parallel to the inhumane treatment of whales. This is so. However, it behooves those whose hearts are open to embrace the Japanese people, even though their history may not be that which is so easily embraced. There are a great many human beings involved in these disasters. Have deepest compassion.

One shall note that where great injury was done to any living being, no doubt retribution will occur, but that is always in Higher Hands than your own. Let it be. Always have compassion. Always.

March 14, 2011 On Japan, 'sensitives' and compassion

Yes, yes. There is great loss of life and we have only begun to discover the loss in Japan's great disaster. We would urge you all to send healing energies, those of you capable of doing so. Those of you who can send your prayers, do so. This is a humbling experience for the planet. What we referred to in previous transmission is correct. However, compassion is the optimum act of forgiveness. Whether a being or beings have earned their circumstance need not make other human beings smug or indifferent. Still, compassion and the healing heart always have their place. This is the need of the hour. It is not only financial assistance this country needs to rebuild. It is deep compassion which is of the essence.

Yes, most definitely, those 'sensitives' in the world are experiencing this latest catastrophic event in various ways. Some will feel extreme weakness, lack of focus and even some physical aches and pains, insomnia or lack of appetite, lack of energy. Others may feel scatter-minded, even those who usually experience life in a rather grounded way. Keep in mind that what impacts any part of the globe in such a profound way as what occurred in Japan will impact every part of the planet.

Those with extrasensory perception and the ability to tune into others will often be the most affected.

At this time, it would behoove you all to increase and intensify your efforts toward establishing and maintaining your own inner peace. Increase your inner communication with the Divine Source. Whether this is through prayer, through music, through art or through dance, intensify what you already use as a tool to communicate with and embrace Divine Energy. This will feed and nurture your own well-being, so you can continue to send Light and love to those in great need anywhere on this planet. WHEN YOU ATTUNE YOURSELVES TO THE HIGHEST ENERGY IN THE PLANET, YOU LIFT THE SPIRITS OF THOSE AROUND YOU SIMULTANEOUSLY.

Do conduct prayer circles around the globe. Make this a weekly practice with group participation, small or large. Make it a daily practice alone or in your individual families. Prayer along with the healing fires will greatly assist a planet in turmoil. Do not give into the turmoil or fall prey to the chaos in the environment. Raise high the purity and truth you have been blessed to deliver. The world is waiting for the Truth to be breathed into its beleaguered atmosphere.

Blessings to all.

We are Orion.
