

#6 ORION TRANSMISSIONS 2011

September 12, 2011

Dear family,

With much love, these transmissions are being sent. I really feel a deeper sense of connectivity in the past couple weeks than ever before. Over and over, I find the pieces of the puzzle falling into place. We weave in and out of each other's lives, enriching each other as we do.

Suwindi, an amazing singer-songwriter-chef extraordinaire from Australia contributed her unbridled enthusiasm to our community and ignited the fire of song in our hearts.

Taylor, our Canadian WWHooper (Willing worker on Homa Organic farms) really bonded with the cows and bees, not to mention our cherry tomatoes! He brought his trusty guitar and helped form the Fire Choir with Suwindi, Katy, and me. We wrote songs together, practiced nearly every day and awakened our inner voices!

The love of ones who have given of themselves here is woven into the tapestry of our community. If one looks closely, one can see the threads of one woven into the threads of the next. It is unifying and inspiring. A coat of many colours!

September 9th is a big celebration day here in our community. It is the anniversary of our healing temple, as well as Parvati-Jarek's and Luz-Andrej's wedding anniversaries! We gathered for a Rudra Yajnya in the temple. The last day's transmissions came during the two hour Vedic fire, which felt particularly powerful. It was like a deep cleansing that day. In meditation, it became clear the power of seeing things from a higher perspective, and how that is essential to harmonious living.

The following morning nine of us took the train to Warsaw, Poland's capital city, where we introduced Ecovillage Bhruhu Aranya and revealed our plans for the Centre of Light. We gave a media presentation of the different aspects of community living—including Homa Organic Farming, healing herbs, healthy vegetarian diet, Eco building, raising children in a healing environment, beekeeping, Homa Psychotherapy, Fire and Sound Therapy and Mandala Art Therapy. It was a joyous gathering, ending in song. Good to be branching out and letting people know we're here.

When we see each other as part of a whole, it makes life a new experience. We are no longer like separate islands isolated from each other. We are a network of ones who have turned to the Light and we are a very large family. Reach out, take a hand. Give a hand. It is really true that we are ONE. May the circle be unbroken!

All love, Parvati

#6 ORION TRANSMISSIONS 2011

August 12, 2011 On Eclipse and music

Yes, yes. The next eclipse will be quite an intense time. If possible, be in a healing environment during the next eclipse. (I looked this up and the next Solar Eclipse is November 25, 2011. The next Lunar Eclipse is December 10, 2011.)

Music is at once a shelter and a catalyst for creative energies to be released.

August 13, 2011 On the next phase

Yes, yes. Our beloved Bhruhu Aranya is expanding and will soon become quite well-known, and not only in Poland. More beings are being directed here, having at times no idea why they have come!

When the historical facts are released, everyone will come to know the origins of current worldwide dilemmas. It is the next phase which is coming, when chaotic revolutions seem to escalate into terrorist activities. It is not that these chaotic events are spawned by terrorists. It is the opposite. It is mass chaos of the underprivileged, the downtrodden who are tired of their circumstances which spawn acts of terrorism. Sadly, economic imbalance is often at the root of the problem. There is injustice in the world, and it is being uprooted.

On an environment and self-sustainability

When environment is stressed by pollution, seeded by Chemtrails, and infiltrated with radioactive particles, the effects on the psyche of man are indelible. Humanity is thus adversely affected by an environment under siege.

Speaking of environment, do take seriously the warnings of coastal danger. They will increase now, in storms which overtake land masses. When relocating, keep in mind elevation and distance from seaside, no matter how alluring the site may be.

Consider now shifting to places where you can forest, grow your own gardens, prepare solar power systems, and live in harmony, sustainable in Nature. Work at self-sustainability in both environmental and psychological/spiritual matters. Those of you who feel isolated in Nature shall discover a new wholesome relationship which will feed and heal your spirits. Working with the forces of Nature, in the earth, with the water, the air, and with fire is establishing a system which will balance your own natures.

August 17, 2011 On planetary influences and dark forces

Yes, planetary influences throughout the merry month of August are reaching a peak. From end of August, there will be a light reprieve from such powerful influences the stars portend.

Sensitive, sensitive, sensitive. This is an extremely sensitive time, especially for those of you carrying Light energies.

Dark forces are having a bit of a heyday, but it will not last. Mischief on a small scale or on a large scale always reaps its own karmic comeuppance. We shall see the fall of a mighty leader in near future, one who was placed in a high position by forces unknown to the majority of the people. This is a foreign country, not U.S. This man is of the darkest energy and will topple with quite a bit of chaos surrounding him as he falls.

August 25, 2011 (At our activation of 'Stone city', an ancient place in eastern Poland where huge rock formations were said to have arisen from the sea. A group of us drove there, walked up the steep rocky path where we did sunset Agnihotra. We were caught in a thunderstorm, but managed to complete the activation in time. it was beautiful but mosquitoes were fierce!)

Silent witness to the passage of time. And they will return to water.

Yes, yes. It is at ancient stone gatherings such as this that power is regenerated from the Earth in direct line to the Cosmos.

It is not merely the humidity which is causing you discomfort, dear vehicle. It is the rumbling of the Earth beneath your feet which your soul can feel.

There is an intense collection of energetic vortexes surrounding these rocks and, as well, an energetic vortex beneath them. it is such that you will feel the great energy shifts such as once created this scenic wonder. Activation is complete.

September 1, 2011 On nature going wild

Yes, yes. There will be stellar showers from the heavens, quite unexpected, in coming months. Expect shifts in planetary alignment which will most certainly cause shifts in land and sea. Those shifts can manifest in vicious storms at sea and in avalanches, hurricanes and volcanic eruptions, to name a few. Hurricanes and tornadoes perhaps are the norm, but these will appear in places where otherwise there is calm. Earth is erupting. Changes are coming.

On the need for community

Brace yourselves for the coming times, as you will need community. Those of you who realize the need for creating such oases as what is here at Bhruhu Aranya, consider beginning your projects in near future. Those searching for a site upon which to develop a Homa farm community, the time is nearing now. In future, it will be survival of the fittest, but also survival in pockets of humanity which are focused on self-sufficient living, growing their own organic foods, developing cottage industry and learning the art of barter and trade. These havens will become like Meccas in future times.

Learn and hone new skills such as organic gardening, herbal lore, clothes-making, green building, solar electric, alternative sources for power and water systems, alternative medicine, healing, creative arts which afford functional beauty, and music, always essential in any time.

Do not delay shifting to communities of like-minded individuals on the same path or living in harmony and unity amongst varied pathways. Community living is essential in the coming times.

On conscious child rearing

Those of you with young children, keep in mind you may eventually have to form schools to teach your own children, once systems become untenable. This is not now, so make best use of systems as they are at present. Of course, home-schooling works well, if there is a variety of children of different ages who can attend together. Social interaction is important at various stages of development, so you should not hide your children from the world outside their door. However, there will come a time when to home-school may be essential.

Meanwhile, consider that those of you with children should spend more than 'quality time' with them. As the world shifts, many changes will take place quickly in the outer environment. To keep up with those changes and assist those younger beings with their adjustment, keep your lines of communication with your children open, meeting regularly, clearing misperceptions they may experience, offering them hope and faith in the future.

In particular, those teenage beings amongst you will need special assistance in the area of HOPE and FAITH. Teenage beings tend to see the world upside down and inside out, during their most intense years. If they have a solid anchor in your love and understanding, they can withstand any storm. They may still have mood fluctuations and fears arise which they never experienced before, but with solid grounding of parental love, they can rise above their problems and become quite effective, compassionate leaders of tomorrow.

On Earth shifts and preparation for future times

Those who live in coastal areas of Southern California are in for a heavy period with high winds and torrential rains. There will be a brief respite, followed by another storm. This is scheduled to occur, but the dates can be adjusted at will.

There are planned and unplanned catastrophes in the world now, hardly possible to tell them apart. When one sees where the catastrophic events play out, that will give the clue. There are many irresponsible conspiracy theories about everything from assassinations to hurricanes and earthquakes, but one thing for certain—planned or unplanned—environmental changes are happening and major Earth shifts are that which cannot be controlled.

Food storage should be well underway for those of you who wish to maintain self-sufficient living. Store grains and major staples, not only jams, pickles, and condiments. Dear ones, prepare for winter, but perhaps add a couple extra months just for good measure. It will not be a long winter this year, likely, here in Poland. There will be the normal temperatures and snowfalls, but it may actually be shorter than in years gone by.

On self-development

It is only through expectations that human beings find themselves in a state of disappointment. If you have no expectations, you will never experience this disappointment state.

When one hits a hard time in one's life, one is being tested and made strong. However, if one faces the same blockages time and again, it is likely more a 'wake-up call' than simply a karmic debt. If one does not learn from one's mistakes, one is likely to experience a build-up of the same, only in fast motion! So, it is always best to make every effort to learn from one's past stumbling, whether this is in reference to relationships or economic stability.

This is a period of adjustment for many. It is truly the time to concentrate on honing and developing your skills, so as to enter the new dimension intact. Service is the key. If everything appears to be going 'wrong', try Service. It will set you back upon yourself, but standing upright and full of energy to continue. Service will always bring you Light. Light will always further any efforts in any area. Blessings follow those who give of themselves with all heart. OM.

September 6, 2011 On UNITY and the tribes of humanity

Yes, yes. Our vehicle will note that the moment the intention is present to listen, we shall address any concerns which may be existing in the mind. If there are no extreme concerns, we will speak on subjects of interest to all. In that line, we would address the issue of Unity amongst Light Workers, and at the very least, amongst members of your own particular 'tribes.' By 'tribes' we do not mean religion or race, but more specifically the tribes which fit like puzzle pieces when individual components, if you will, meet.

In fact, when one tends to over-identify with a religious order or a particular race of beings, one over-generalizes and thus misses often the human contact between members of one's true spiritual family. You see, one's spiritual family shall most certainly span a myriad of religions, races, countries and cultures. You can go to Zambia and find members of your tribe there, as easily as you can if you go to New York City!

Those who recognize their tribes have an immediate connection. Because of cultural conditioning, they may label it in various ways or may not particularly understand the connection intellectually, just feel it deeply. This is the norm. To fully comprehend its origin and impact on your lives is rare. In fact, with members of one's own spiritual tribe, one can often find fierce competition, jealousy and envy. However, if the beings are aware and working on their own consciousness, these negative reactions will likely wane and give way to a unity otherwise rarely experienced.

When a being wishes to 'join' your tribe, he or she can often be met with resistance, as the tribes are often of ancient origin and not what one would commonly consider 'joining.' However, one must realize that there will be new beings who gravitate to the tribes who have no recollection of previous life connections, but who for some reason resonate with you. One can open one's doors should the feeling be mutual, or at least honest. Tribes will grow, will evolve. However, for the most part, you will fully recognize beings as being from your tribal unit. Many tribes are huge, by the way. and not at all exclusive!

This brings us to the delicate subject of UNITY. In the world outside your doors, there is anything but Unity. There is competition which is fostered by advertising, media, and by the very nature of industrialized society. In the inner world, however, the one which you access daily if you meditate, pray, or even reflect upon life, there are seeds for unity already planted a long time ago.

The unification of all tribes of what we lightly refer to as “Light Workers” is quite a natural occurrence. Once the lines of division are removed, once the Truth is revered and respected, human beings begin to shift into their higher natures. And this is where true UNITY is possible. When you begin to see the humanity in your brothers and sisters, you begin to open to the possibility that trust and understanding can overcome fear and hesitancy.

As you move into your light bodies—which is a process underway, dear ones—you will need to support each other in ways you have never experienced before. Normally one considers support in the physical realm, but in this case, each of you will need to begin to be willing to expand your awareness. Many will experience light-headedness and even visions. Many will experience other-worldly presences which may initially give you a bit of a fright, if you have never been privy to a vision or an apparition. As the proximity of the spirit world nears your own, you will likely see, feel and even hear more from the subtle realm. There are those of you, as our vehicle, who have already been having these experiences for many years. It will seem second nature to such beings. This will be a time when to assist those less experienced in such realms will be of paramount importance.

On Relocation

At the same time, one should begin to seek one’s true home. One should not settle for simply a physical location seemingly convenient to one’s current employment or familial roots. One is being asked to expand beyond one’s comfort zone in order to fully embrace one’s true origin and one’s spiritual home. This is another time of moving, shifting residences once again and of finding one’s place in the universe, eventually manifesting in physical reality as well as in thought, word and deed!

We will see a shift once again, as we saw a few years back, of Light beings shuffling into their new places of residence. It is actually crucial to develop networks of support and safe places whereupon beings can begin to store food, develop alternative technology, build homes of natural material and create infrastructure which will support them in times to come. Later, it will be more difficult than it is at present. There are ebbs and flows in the movement of Light beings on this planet. This, indeed, is one of the flow periods! We will see movement more now than in years past. All the stars are aligned for it.

On resolution and the greater whole

This is a time also for deep introspection and resolution of conflict, amongst yourselves and within yourselves. It is a time of resolution of opposites within human nature as well. If you put your minds and hearts into it, these are the times which offer great prosperity and abundance, as well in the physical realm. One can manifest one’s dreams in such a time period—particularly those dreams which ultimately serve humanity.

Thus we would urge all of you to utilize the existing energies which are readily available now, to manifest that which calls you and realize your individual as well as tribal potential. Moving forward alone without the support and connection of the group can be a lonely process. It can ultimately be successful, but much time will then be lost in relation to interactions with others of like mind and heart. Relating and correlating is vital now.

Move forward individually and collectively. Develop and honour the Unity which rises amongst you and will ultimately assist you in ways you cannot even imagine. Unity amongst those of the same tribe is essential. Once those who resonate to the same frequencies begin to resolve their 'differences' and become willing to work for the whole, the whole will become stronger and more reflective of a greater whole which will expand to include those of other tribes and those whose aims are true. Ultimately, this is the goal.

OM.

On Interplanetary Connections

Now, this brings us to the subject of interplanetary connections, which has only been broached fairly recently as an acceptable topic of discussion! Hmm... We have to tell you, it is not a simple matter, as many beings conjure up their own connections without any real thread of true interrelation between them and their planetary brothers and sisters. That is to say, there are many who wish to become famous and will use anything as a tool to achieve that purpose. That our vehicle adheres to a strong code of ethics, only recording what she hears and never embellishing it, is truly a rare and sacred bond to be respected. We honour her in this aspect. The voices of others who have less code of ethics unfortunately are often heard widely, creating a bit of a conflict for those whose aim is true. Have no fear, dear ones. Those who are aware will certainly recognize that which is of the Light and not mere creation of fantasies. If one is going to guide others, one must be accurate in his/her presentation of what is heard and what is spoken. There should be no disparity in the telling of Truth.

On Ancient Origins and Future destinations

Yes, yes. The ancient origins of humankind are quite interesting indeed. What one studies in history books is on one level, the level which can be seen and heard. The actual history of this civilization has its roots in the mystical, etheric worlds. This is difficult even for an otherworldly scholar to expound upon, without fully confusing the listener.

What remains obvious to those of you with IN-sight is that there appears to have been a civilization before this one in which great miracles occurred, forces greater than human beings were accessed and the energies of the cosmos were harnessed for greater pursuits, including the building of the great pyramids and the construction of many monumental cities based on mathematical equations which defy reason. That beings from other planets did exist and work closely with human beings, is true. That it continues to happen in greater numbers today is as yet all but completely unknown.

Yes, yes. Archeological findings of late will reveal entire civilizations which were lost and a technology which is beyond their times. Such findings have come before, but what is being discovered now will shock the world. Of course, should these findings be investigated further, more insight into present world situations, climate changes and Earth shifts will be explained. Civilizations have been lost before due to shifts of the Earth's axis.

What is predicted for planet Earth is not all going to manifest and certainly not in the time period expected or predicted. Thus, beings will become more complacent, once 2012 comes and goes, with less occurring than is expected. It is as if great catastrophes have been foretold and when they do not occur on the dates given, human beings are disappointed! Waiting for their demise, they even have expectations about that! Interesting human beings you are.

There are great efforts being made amongst those Light Workers on your planet and it is due to the intensity and dedication of these individuals and those who follow them that humanity stands a chance of rising above the current trend of destruction. AN ENVIRONMENT UNDER FIRE IS BECOMING AN ENVIRONMENT HEALED BY FIRE. May this effort continue to fructify and a healing take place from the bowels of the Earth to the limitless skies above. And may the Earth, record-keeper of the universe, continue to evolve and be the planet of evolution into the new dimension. OM.

September 7, 2011 On Higher Intelligence

Yes, yes. In every human being are seeds for higher intelligence. In some, the seeds are in the germination stage, in others, they are already ripening into fruit. One's genetic disposition, as well as one's familial and environmental experiences, have a direct effect on the growth and development of one's 'higher intelligence'—that is to say, one's access to the realm of higher intelligence. Some, endowed with greater propensity for realization in this life, are not accessing these precious 'seeds,' but instead, are focused more on the material world, opting for material ambitions rather than true power of the spirit. Then, others are turning to the Light en masse, aware of the higher consciousness of humankind. These beings are activating their own potential, rather than avoiding it or choosing mediocrity or the proverbial 'comfort zone.'

When one begins to move toward the Light with full step and full intent, one's life shifts.

Those with grace of extrasensory perception and healing capabilities often see and hear that which taps the spirit. There are actually interplanetary beings who are from Higher Intelligences than what exist normally on your planet. Those with this extrasensory perception can actually hear and interact with these Higher Intelligences.

For our dear vehicle, this is a simple manner, having been trained meticulously by the great Master. Our vehicle is walking always between worlds. As she is, by nature, sure-footed, she finds it easier than many. Though truly rejuvenating, the essence of what is received by this vehicle is penetrating and life-changing. It is not easy to navigate between states of awareness, but this is deeper and further-reaching. It is accessing different frequency levels. OM.

September 9, 2011 On Ancient ways and finding truth within

In ancient civilizations, much of what you now call 'New Age' was clearly integral to the spiritual awareness commonly accepted and understood amongst the original tribal culture.

We have stated several times that in ancient cultures, human beings revered and adhered to communications with Nature, other planets, the forces of sun, moon, stars, earth, air, fire, water and ether. It is the human culture of today which is out of step with REAL-ITY!

Those venturing into the concepts and precepts of New Age awareness often have no natural resources to access, supported by their own central culture and environment. They blaze trails, some leading to TRUTH, still others leading further into the maze of confusion and duality.

How then, to walk the path of the Ancients with assurance that one's inner compass is accurate and secure? This is a difficult question to address, let alone solve. It is the dilemma of modern man. Even those whose aim is true must walk unscathed through the mire of illusion, avoiding the trappings of Maya.

One must still one's mind. Let go of attachment to outcome. Let go of expectations, especially those you impose on yourself! Remember—NO EXPECTATIONS, NO DISAPPOINTMENTS.

In a perfect world, the stilling of one's mind would be a relatively simple act. However, as Earth shifts are already beginning, human beings who are less aware are most adversely affected by fluctuations in energies, erratic weather changes and stress in the environment. An atmosphere of fear and apprehension gives way to discomfort, illness and human beings' nature being stretched to the limit.

How does one still one's mind if one is living in the midst of chaos? Simply spoken, one has no choice but to still one's mind. There truly is no way out but IN.

Gather whatever tools you can to create an atmosphere of peace and tranquility in your own home. Make your own personal physical environment an oasis for your soul.

Then, create a quiet place where you are undisturbed. In that space, celebrate the sacred. Bring into that space whatever brings you comfort and helps to expand your awareness. Keep only images of the Holy there. It can also be a simple room, clean and quiet with no adornment. Creating a sacred space for yourself is setting the stage for your peace. It is only one component.

You may bring to this environment the ancient Vedic fire, Agnihotra, which balances the influences from outside with those from inside and is a catalyst for the inner journey.

Calm the mind. Rein in your thoughts and keep your focus on a Mantra, a silent prayer, or even your own breath.

Thoughts will swirl wildly in your mind in the beginning. You may even feel they are more wild and uncontrollable when you attempt to quiet them! They will give in to you if you remain unfazed by their persistence. Remember, dear ones, you are in charge. Your thoughts are your thoughts. They do not have a life of their own. They come from your mind—the same mind you are disciplining, the same mind which is capable of embracing Holy thoughts transforming darkness with Light.

Actually let us digress here for the moment. Do you blessed human beings realize your power? Do you realize you can change your reality, not to mention your destiny? With pure intent to heal, to love, to expand your awareness, to rise above circumstance and influence, you can ever redirect the movement of your life.

That is, you, by your own efforts, can rise above your own Karmic predispositions and change your own destiny! By attracting GRACE into your heart, your lives can become attuned to the highest, purest vibrations and thus to Divine Will.

It begins with stilling the mind.

It begins with releasing expectations.

It begins with keeping one's mind affirming the Holy.

It begins with you.

All the Light forces of the universe are at your service, dear ones.

And keep yourself in good company.

Avoid those who pull you back into the fray.

Avoid over-intellectualizing.

Surround yourself with those of like mind and heart.

And listen to the quiet voice within your soul—the one which comes from ancient culture where humans listened to the sun, moon, and stars. For indeed, dear ones, you are all coming home to the place inside you where the words of all great ones resonate within you. You are being drawn to the Light. Let nothing stand in your way—least of all your own minds.

Walk in Light, dear ones. OM.

Once you begin to experience that inner peace, let that be your axis, your centre, the hub upon which the wheel of your life turns. Return always to that inner peace.

You see, humans tend to taste the inner peace but return to the chaos. Instead, return to your pure centre. The chaos will retreat from your door if every time it knocks on your home, you refuse to open your heart to it.

Reverse the trend.

Make your sacred sense of inner peace your point of reference. From that point, live your life.

Not the other way around.

All of nature resonates with the peaceful heart.

OM.
