"Michael is an extremely knowledgeable astrologer. His reading of my birth chart explained so clearly the gifts and challenges of my life path. If you want more clarity about your life direction, I recommend him." – Shirley-Ann

Tip of the Week:

Last week's Lunar Eclipse on March 25 will have produced whatever influences each of us was destined to undergo. These influences could continue for a while, perhaps even as long as until the next Lunar Eclipse on September 18th, 2024. In this case, the prolonged duration would be due to deeper themes of destiny with the initial event subsequently triggered by other transits. More generally, you should know by now unless these events are in your blind spot.

Solar Eclipses are the bigger deal, and the April 8th Great American Solar Eclipse is fast approaching. This event has gained global attention because it happens to cross the path of the most recent previous Solar Eclipse in the United States on August 21, 2017.

I have devoted a longer article to this major event and, due to its potential importance, have made it publicly available. You can read it here: The Great American Solar Eclipse – April 8, 2024.

P.S. Mercury turns retrograde on April 1st. No fooling...

Have a great week!

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 19)

Despite an enthusiastic determination to forge ahead, both outer circumstances and your own mood are driving you inward. Retreat is a keyword. You may simply want to escape from reality for a while. On the other hand, you may feel the need or even the desire to do inner work, such as to confront and overcome inner resistance.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 20)

Big changes are brewing in your public and professional spheres, and the outcome of these may take until the end of the year to be fully appreciated. A revolutionary impulse is indicated, and it looks like you will not tolerate opposition gracefully. This will become increasingly evident over the coming weeks. It might be a good idea to rest and charge your batteries.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

A strong sense of your own individuality vies with larger, collective needs and realities. This rather complex mix indicates that you might not be able to simply do just what you want. It may feel like circumstances are pushing you to make sacrifices for the greater good. At worst, you feel cornered. Aim to surrender and trust the flow.

Cancer (Jun 22 – Jul 22)

You are probably feeling pulled between two worlds. It might be helpful to know that you are not alone. A whole new dynamic will be activated by the coming New Moon Solar Eclipse in Aries. It will activate a momentum that will steadily build. Take it slow and avoid overthinking, especially regarding your career. The clouds will clear soon.

Leo (Jul 23 – Aug 23)

Nurturing a visionary perspective on the future is likely now. This trend will not only continue but it will deepen over the coming weeks and months. It is all a feature of a much deeper process of change destined to occur. The key is to cooperate and trust your feelings, even though they may be leading you out of your comfort zone.

Virgo (Aug 24 – Sep 22)

Subtle yet real shifts and changes on relationship fronts are underway. Some of these may be more of a feeling than obvious, outer reality. Yet, it will progressively unfold to reveal that there is more at play than was apparent. The key is to patiently commit to learning new methods and approaches, which can best be achieved by experience.

Libra (Sep 23 – Oct 22)

Changes in your overall lifestyle which have been brewing for many months will soon become more apparent. Positively, you have already put out the feelers. Yet, with Mercury retrograde, some of your intel may not be as trustworthy as you like. You are probably wise to put as many major decisions on hold as you can now and proceed slowly.

Scorpio (Oct 23 – Nov 21)

A creative impulse is stirring. You are feeling a steadily growing urge to take new, independent initiatives. This trend will continue and increase over the coming weeks. It is probably not time yet for major outer change. On the other hand, the time is probably right to do the inner work of getting mentally, emotionally, and physically prepared.

Sagittarius (Nov 22 – Dec 21)

A creative and playful impulse vies with deeper needs to go within. This could simply amount to an antisocial cycle. Positively, the combined energies can be harnessed for creative, constructive work. This could be directly to your home and living environment as with renovations, or it could amount to a soul-searching journey.

Capricorn (Dec 22 – Jan 19)

You have the soul of a warrior but the mind of a mystic. The key to success is based on accessing your sense of authenticity. To the extent that your allegiance is to external sources or powers, your integrity is liable to be compromised. Combining the two is ideal and could lead to great achievements based on feelings of deep dedication that few others can understand.

Aquarius (Jan 20 – Feb 19)

Aries time tends to activate an ardent pursuit of facts, knowledge, and insights. This is true now and will even be further emphasized with Mercury retrograde. Yet, the pace may also seem slow, at least until Venus enters Aries on April 5. Yet due to other factors, you will remain happy to proceed in the slow lane for another few weeks yet.

Pisces (Feb 20 – Mar 20)

The recent New Moon in your sign continues to lead you into new territory. While Mars in your sign has been a delay factor for many, it has perhaps had just the opposite effect on you. Ignited to forge ahead, you have likely taken a series of key initiatives and the momentum will continue to build. By the end of April, you will be a busier bee yet.
