Tip of the Week:

Eclipse season enters its last quarter for this year on Monday, October 13, coinciding with Pluto turning Direct after its annual 5-month retrograde process, and Canadian Thanksgiving and the end also of Daylight Savings time. So, this does indeed mark a noteworthy turning point.

Out of these, Pluto Direct is the big news since in doing so, it enters the resolution phases of its current evolutionary process, affecting anyone with planets or angles from 1 to 3.5 degrees of any signs, but especially Aquarius, Leo, Taurus and Scorpio.

What the destined themes involved amount to ever depends on the specific details of one's Birth Chart, the close assessment of which reveals what is referred to as the "Chart Promise". It outlines the finer details of the karma/dharma themes which are ultimately, intimately personal. This is an example of where Sun Sign Horoscopes do not reach, at least not specifically.

What Horoscopes offer is a generic perspective based on a fractal principle of the holistic nature of existence. Yes, it is a mouthful but understanding how and why Astrology works requires such levels of understanding. This perspective was addressed in my recent Master Class – Understanding the Earth, Sun and Moon Relationship in Astrology. When understood correctly, it can serve to help you break free of common, widely held assumptions about Astrology, the history of which also outlines the very foundations of science.

Let me know if you are interested in this illuminating knowledge, or if and how Pluto's transformational purpose is at play in your life.

Horoscope for the Week:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

Things might be edgy on relationship fronts. Directing the focus to practical matters, and perhaps specifically to money, is important. Investigating new possibilities and seeding and even deliberately designing new dreams, and ambitions, is featured. Yet, some final clean-up of yesteryear is probably necessary to have a fresh start.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Making improvements in your daily rhythm and routine continues. Getting others to agree is probably where the bigger effort is required. But are you spreading yourself too thin, taking on too much...? If others are saying so, they are probably right, at least as far as their involvement is concerned. Think deeply about what significant others want and need as well.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

As eager as you may be to have more fun, you have to work at it, which is not a great combination. The desire to play or at least express yourself creatively will increase starting this week and continue for a few more. Ideals associated with friendships, new and old, are part of the plot. Avoid over-analysis and roll with things, as you are destined.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

A busy time continues. Making key improvements on a variety of fronts is indicated. These could be directed towards yourself as well. Since you are in such an expansive cycle, it can help to determine where best to contract, reduce, or minimize to counter for the sake of balance. Meanwhile, investigations into where and how to best invest is featured.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

With Venus in Virgo, the inspiration to make key improvements is widespread. For you, these include deeper dives than for most others, including renovations. These could manifest as 'shadow work', which generally implies seeing what is hidden. The good news is that in doing so, you can remove the waste but might also discover hidden gifts.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

Getting clear regarding priorities is an ongoing process, but is accelerated now. At least some of the focus is directed to your overall approach, style, image and/or appearance. This includes research or simply being open to inspirations and possibilities coming your way. Positively, you feel energized and motivated to advance your overall position.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

Acting on dreams that are gestating in the back of your mind is important now. Yet, as determined as you likely feel, you may also feel hesitant, reluctant, or at best happy to proceed slowly. This is one of those 'measure twice and cut once' attitudes helping you to not make mistakes. If so, do any more measuring that you feel you must because you are about ready to cut.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

This is a busy time, both outwardly and in the privacy of your mind and regarding your dreams and desires. With both Mercury and Mars and the Sun soon too, in your sign, you are feeling edgy and deliberate. The higher road is calling you to make some key changes, adjustments and improvements in your life, in a big way.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Your sights are set on the future. It includes deciphering who your true friends are and allies that you can genuinely rely on. Positively good karmic returns are flowing in thanks to Jupiter's role. Yet, if the karmic lords deem you to not have been integral and sincere over the years, the opposite is probably true. Use these as a measure of your overall attitude and choices.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

Fresh starts, ambitions, and opportunities in your public and professional life continues. These could include culture and travel, both literally and figuratively. Meanwhile, the time is right to let go of outworn beliefs and perceptions that are distracting your focus away from what is truly important to and for you, and preventing progress.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

Libra time is one of seeing a bigger picture, higher principles and creativity too. The creative part is significantly intellectual, but includes cultivating new modes of perception, self-concepts, attitudes and methods of approach associated with your personal power. These are also meant to lead to breakthrough and advancement in your career.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

Libra is a transformational sign in your destiny. It includes transcending negative habits associated with your ego and comfort zone. Discerning if what you deem pleasurable is actually healthy for you is a challenge of self-honesty. Asking such questions and researching for the answers supported by the will to eliminate what is genuinely not healthy for you, equates to soul power.
