"Choosing to find reasons to be grateful is not an ethical choice, it is wisdom and a gift we give ourselves, and that others receive from us as well. True Gratitude grows strong, healthy roots when we practice the ability to feel grateful for being a part of the drama of life, at all. Its counterpoint is entitlement. True to the Spirit of Aries and Spring Equinox – Do it now!" ~ Michael O'Connor

Tip of the Week:

Happy Spring!

Are you ready for an adventurous, exhilarating, nerve-testing ride? Well, ready or not...

The Spring Equinox Chart hosts the Moon, the emotional driver's seat for the season, in fiery enthusiastic, exuberant, philosophical, adventurous, truth-oriented Sagittarius.

Popular, socially manufactured, and subjective opinions of truth, fortified by convictions anchored by unconscious fears tend to have a tight grip, so don't expect these to dissolve quickly. Yet, reactions to control the flow, or others, will prove futile, or even backfire.

Imagine you are on a big, high, complex roller coaster. Attention on others will fade quickly as the experience consumes your focus, beyond your core, or destined circles. So, take a few deeper breaths, keep your eyes open ready to go big with high rises, steep cascades, sudden and unexpected turns, twists, corkscrews, 360's, dark tunnels, and all... If you can rise above fearful reactions and faithfully embrace the fast, furious, pace, when it re-enters the docking station, you will say something like: 'What a rush, let's do it again!'

Just don't expect everyone to feel the same.

Since Spring Equinox has been chosen as International Astrology Day, so this week's Horoscope will bring more emphasis to some of the core purposes of each sign, in context to the timelessness of it all.

Have a great week,

Michael

Weekly Horoscope:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

Your basic destiny as an Aries is to take pioneering leads and to express yourself as an individual. So, the question is: do you follow, or defer to the leads of others, or yearn to belong, or second guess your instincts? The only one you are meant to surrender to is the authority of your own soul. In this regard, your responsibility is to show up with a salute and just do it!

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Your basic destiny as a Taurus is to determine what your talents and skills are, and what you value and desire to have and do. Common sense and practicality rule your world, usually balanced by sensuality and pleasure. Sometimes in your aspiration to cultivate too many skills or obtain too much knowledge... priorities get blurred. Choose realistically and focus.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

Everything in duality is dual, yet it only appears that way because it all shares the same source, ultimately. Still, in the game it is dual. The two hemispheres of the brain are the twins. It is as though looking in the mirror, neither can decide who is more real. One solid, sensible, and oriented to facts. The other ephemeral and imaginative, and oriented to dreams. Honour both.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

Security is the keyword, your own and that of those you deem family. Water, food, clothing shelter, and food sums it up... If these are threatened in any way, then your protective nature to nurture shifts from defense to offense, instinct supersedes empathy, and fight becomes rationalized. This is how emotion reacts and why objectivity is needed to counter subjective reasoning.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

Creativity, play, performance and audience guide your focus. Determined to do it right, you are oriented to be the producer, director, and actor in your own show. The game can get very dramatic when obsession overrides the passion to play. This is when entertaining other possibilities is meant to take the spotlight. As long as you are creating, especially when others benefit, you are a star.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

Wholesome is a keyword for you. It includes words like healthy, holism and holy too, and all combined is holistic. Machines requiring all the parts reveals holism, as does the synthesis of body, mind, heart and soul. The whole is the key. In turn, the key is fulfilled by a hole, which can prove complex, requiring the constructive, creative critical analysis of an engineer. Holy complexity!

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

The irony of balance is that it is dynamic, not static. Since everything in existence is subject to motion at the atomic, cosmic, and civic level too, flow implies movement, moving on... In this regard, there really is only now and next. History has its place, one that too few visit, but then it is largely stories. The real deal is a movie, yours, mine and ours, and playing along is the balance.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

As the sign with the greatest range, the lure of the low, the heaven of the high, you in between, wow, intense. It does not judge, but divinity does deal in consequences. The alchemist of the Zodiac, purging, purifying, burning dark desires to snow white ash, personal transformation is your task. No need to enter, you are the fire, the soul of the Sun, the boundless source of creative resources.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Go big, the sky is not the limit, the universe is... limitless. Oh sure, there are boundaries, and borders, and laws, and rules and although they may suck, they can be regarded as tools. Expansion within the contraction; that is the way of the world when embodied in the avatar. So, whether you keep it close, or venture far, always remember who and what you truly are, the universe.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

Some say you are a hardball, while others see a rolling stone. Beneath the skin, you are fire to the bone, ever yearning for a hearth and harbor to call your home. Just remember the balance, because it is always just, and you can pay for it now, or you will settle it later, cause either way, we all must pay to play, it is just the way, it is... Be kind to your future self, with kindness for everyone else.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

You are uniquely you, it is true, but this is nothing new to you. Of course, there are others, your sisters and brothers, but they too are just another you. This duality deal is truly a riddle, apparently a paradox, that takes a genius to decipher. That is why we are wise to be inventive, and you too, dreaming and scheming of ways to win, but either way, it is just the same, cause it's all God's game.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

The mind of the soul is the subconscious, of which most are unconscious, but of which you are meant to become conscious. You might be destined to live in dreams, or perhaps you are destined to live for them. Since it is all a dream, you are invariably living in it, so either way, it's okay for you to say, I will do it another day. But, if you choose to today, do it only because your soul says so.
