"This is seriously the best reading I have ever received in my life. I have had previous astrology readings and nothing compares to the guidance, inspiration, and validation I received from Michael today. I am totally mind blown with the accuracy of the information I received. This is not your typical astrology reading. I only wish I had booked a reading sooner. Thank you so much, Michael!! You are so good at what you do." ~ Neena

Tip of the Week:

While the shift from August to September does not officially determine the end of summer, which is Autumn Equinox some 3 weeks from now, many people casually interpret this time to be the beginning of the fall season.

Saturn Retrograde re-entering Pisces on September 1, Mercury entering Virgo, (the sign it rules) on September 2, and Uranus turning Retrograde on September 5/6 are some of the main highlights for this transition period.

Saturn's re-entry into Pisces indicates its final period of disintegration that began in early March 2023. Saturn will only re-enter Aries again in mid-February 2025, so for the next 5.5 months, we can expect successive waves of more disintegration of realities that were perceived as 'norms' and of companies and institutions that have been prominent in our times.

Since Saturn will retreat back to 25 Pisces 09 by late November, if you have planets or angles at this degree or higher, in any sign, but especially Pisces, Gemini, Virgo and Sagittarius, you can expect to experience the weight of Saturn to push you to let go and move on.

Have a great week!

Horoscope for the Week:

Aries (Mar 21 – Apr 20)

Although 'get her done' Virgo time has begun, you are still in the mood to have fun. A clash of desires could be the result. You can find ways to play while you work to enjoy the sweet spot. Impulsiveness getting in the way of the focus to follow through is another challenge, but you can overcome it too, even if it requires overtime.

Taurus (Apr 20 – May 21)

Whistling while you work on projects close to home is keeping you busy. You want to beautify more than just clean and repair, but they are all connected. Ideally, you are focused on matters that have been waiting for their turn for quite a while, as opposed to new endeavors. This is so because the new ones, at the expense of the old, could prove... expensive.

Gemini (May 21 – Jun 21)

Happy to hover close to home, you still want to get things done. It's not all about work, however, and the greater inspiration will come from exercising your creative prowess. Meanwhile, a rebellious impulse to break through stale patterns is strongly indicated. So, explore your options and try new approaches empowered by a pioneering spirit.

Cancer (Jun 21 – Jul 22)

A busy cycle requiring you to attend to a variety of fronts and perhaps to multitask too, continues. Positively, you are able to exercise your skills and talents and reveal your resourcefulness. As long as you are able to participate with creative licence, things should flow smoothly. The challenge includes taking a diplomatic approach to get your way.

Leo (Jul 22 – Aug 23)

Practical considerations continue to guide your focus. Yet, these also require a creative focus. It could amount to the discernment process of where and how to best invest or at least improve your financial flow. Fortunately, your energy levels should be running strong, supporting you to be more assertive than you might be usually.

Virgo (Aug 23 – Sep 22)

Although last week's New Moon was in your sign, you may still be feeling a little dreamy, lost or confused regarding your focus going forward. Outlining practical plans will help. The fog will dissipate by mid-week and even prove sharper than usual. So, do what you can to prepare and be patient with your progress in the shorter term.

Libra (Sep 22 – Oct 22)

A period of retreat and reflection is pulling you inward. For now, the focus on friends and who you love and perhaps why is a source of excitement. Yet, the desire to retreat will increase steadily and could afford the perfect opportunity to dive into a good book or attend to creative hobbies and interests, or to meditate or simply rest your mind.

Scorpio (Oct 22 – Nov 21)

Identifying with your sense of individuality continues. It extends to your public life and career as well. To advance your position, new tools might be required. Your focus will become increasingly strategic, but you might be confronted by inner obstacles from your own mind, like lack of clarity and uncertainty, so breaking free of these is where effort is required.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 – Dec 21)

Taking new leads and strides guided by practical and realistic considerations is a central theme currently. Accessing inspired visions of creative possibility is featured. A rebellious attitude is also indicated, but could be harnessed as a resolve to succeed. Receptivity to the encouragement, guidance and moral support from significant others will help.

Capricorn (Dec 21 – Jan 19)

The present moment is always a good time to cultivate an inspired, yet realistic vision of purpose. Just as the meaning of life is to live meaningfully, a sense of purpose is achieved by choosing to be, and live on purpose. In the highest sense, this includes relevant contributions and transcends setting and achieving personal goals.

Aquarius (Jan 19 – Feb 19)

A deeper dive into matters, especially those involving significant others in your life, is an important theme currently. It includes some measure of creative collaboration. Positively, it will contribute to deepened intimacy in a whole, deeper and wider sense. Play with ideas, concepts and strategies before committing to any specific one is a good idea for now.

Pisces (Feb 19 – Mar 20)

Your creative, critical faculties are on the burner and will come to a full boil soon. Beyond ideas and possibilities, the deeper consideration includes the time and effort required to follow through with and fulfill your objectives. You have entered a foundation-building phase, oriented to new approaches and strategies, so be patient yet deliberate.
