

The Earth (Earthquake) Trecena

By the White Shaman

Our new collective consciousness is born from 1-earth to 13-water. The peak of this trecena is 7-house, the noblest day with a strong sense of community. 13-water is the day our updated collective consciousness emerges. Just as a spider makes a new web each day, our collective consciousness makes a new web for the next Tzolk'in round inside of the Tzolk'in Clock.

The center of both the Mayan and Aztec 260 day round shows a similar message in two different forms. In the Mayan version, there are three symbols on the lower left at the Shaman's feet. The bottom symbol is the union of your sleep and awake self. The middle symbol is your present moment. The top symbol is the serpent energy of life. It is this union that creates life for us.

The "rain-god" Cha'ak is on the right, tossing three seeds in the air. This represents our bound selves making choices and thus creating the serpent energy of life. It is our union with our sleep consciousness, or Nawal, and our wake consciousness that gives life.

The Aztec version bondage (of sleep and the serpent is in the center. It energies connect the Tzolk'in Clock.

Do you ever look wonder why it is our web is updated wrong changes. each Tzolk'in of us. The Tzolk'in personal connections with time.

shows a man holding the and awake self) in his right hand energy of life in his left hand. He also shows how the chakra to different faces and corners of back at past activities and less important now? Each time our collective sense of right and This slightly changes our morals round, which in turn, affects all Clock explains our social and

The next page shows you as a Shaman and Cha'ak our "rain god" known for his crusty eyes, lighting (serpent energy) and holding bundles. Perhaps this "god" is your personal Nawal, or sleep self. Do we have individual sleep selves or are all connected to Cha'ak? In other words, after you die, does your Nawal continue as an individual or just part of a collective? Think of a leaf leaving a tree. The leaf returns all of its energy to the tree before falling off brown and lifeless.

East face, center and west face of the Tzolk'in Clock

West
Old Shaman

Offering
Young Nawal

Middle
Mid-life Shaman

Choices
Mid-life Nawal

East
Young Shaman

Receiving
Old Nawal

From the east to center to west, your Nawal gets younger as you get older. This is showing how our life is like leaves of a tree and the tree is our Nawal, or "rain god" Cha'ak. And, just as a leaf gives its life energy back to the tree before falling, we give life energy back to Cha'ak when we die. It's almost as if our lives are a recharging station for our Nawal. Perhaps the Mayan knew more about that than we currently know. I can only imagine ball games at night with the Milky Way in the sky. There are many mysteries and death is one of them. Perhaps the Tzolk'in sheds some light about where we are and why life is meaningful, beyond death. At the age of 52, you gain perspective on this physical realm. It's from this time forward that your Nawal really gains its youth. The longer you live the more beneficial it is to your Nawal.

Peace on Earth

During the previous seed trecena, the crossing from our right (sleep) side to our left (enslaved) side has resonated with our spirits and emotions. It's interesting that the Tzolk'in was created around the time Jesus died. It's said his last words were not in any known language but easily recognized by the Maya and that it translates to "Now I immerse myself in the pre-dawn of your presence". Perhaps this new baktun that we all heard about in 2011/2012 is the dawn of our awakening.

What would an awakened world be like?

Everyone simply behaves ethically so we can trust each other. As the awakening happens, those with defective minds can be healed. Ultimately, there would be no laws, no jails, no police, no borders, no lawyers, no taxes, no government and no wars. You wouldn't have locks on your doors, nor fear any intruders. Collectively, the weakest person would get the most attention, so everyone has a good and balanced life. We wouldn't need money as our spiritual side would allow us to use our internal god-like powers more effectively. Things like the great pyramids of Egypt, and better, could be done with modern technology. This is all possible with one simple change in the human mind, and that is, we all behave ethically without guilt, shame and clean morals. Our web collectively defines right and wrong.

Yet today, we mostly think about legal documents to complete. For instance, to enroll your kids in school they need shots, past grades, birth certificates, medical forms, etc. All of these legal documents have human names in capital letters.

Of course you have to show your driver's license and credit card (both are backed by your legal name) to complete the legal documents. The time it takes for each child's parents to complete those forms, get the shots, and pay the bills is not a healthy operating system and is just one example.

Collectively, our web can be better than this. We can make a better web. This is the re-unification of the four directions.

The Earth (Earthquake) Trecena

1 Earthquake - Watch your thoughts, weeding out negativity, and planting loving thoughts in your mind. Today, first day of a new trecena, is another day to plant seeds, groom existing plants and weed a few out. Implement something new in your life today and see how effective it is over the next 13 days.

2 Flint - The energy of life is vibrant as we delve into the duality of our spirit, to see what we like and what we don't like. There is plenty to remove to make room for more goodness. Be careful, having an internal sharp knife swinging around inside of you. Stay focused. Make a mess.

3 Storm - Hold your family as water showers upon you, like a waterfall or an ocean's wave. It's a refreshing storm that cleanses yesterday's clippings. Cherish our gift of life. Rejoice in new abundance.

4 Light - Relax and enjoy today's energy, the most fragrant of all days.

5 Crocodile – Today's energy feels like 3 Storm, but personal. It's a day to say "I'm sorry". It's also a day of collective consciousness awakening with positive community outlooks. Spread your smile.

6 Wind - The energy of wind enters your Akbal today. This is sacred energy from the breath of god. It's a source of life. Open your windows and let the breeze inside.

Imagine an Akbal (spiritual flame) burning in your home. Today is the day to give blessings to the fire as the 6 Wind feeds it. When a fire burns, it creates new water. The consciousness of the water is the moment it was born. Bless the spiritual flame in your house for it creates new life with new water.

7 House - Center your home, your Akbal today. Imagine how you want it with all of the ability of our creator to provide it for you. Improve your current home surroundings today.

8 Seed - If there was a grand parent's day, it should be today. Spend time with your extended family.

9 Serpent - Feel the connection with your Nawal today and carefully watch your thoughts. Learn how to control them. Let your thoughts flow without accepting, nor rejecting them.

10 Transformer - This is a karma day. The best thing to do is appreciate your personal luxuries while not letting bad karma upset your balance. If you can make it through today, the next three days will be easy.

11 Deer - After yesterday's transformation, today is a day of stability, to get a new grip for the next twenty days. It's also a day of patience. Respect nature and her rules.

12 Star - There is a major shift in energy as our new web of life is set into place for this Tzolk'in round.

13 Water - Today is an offering day, a good day to pay bills and have extra money. "The secret to being rich is to spend less than you make; then you always have money." It's also a 13 day, the end of a trecena. It's a natural "Sunday" to relax and enjoy the fruit of your thoughts from the past 12 days. It's also a day to prepare new seeds for the start of the Dog Trecena. Play your favorite music to go with this magical energy.